CAFE PROPRIETOR AT ROSEBUD SHOT

John Black, alleged to have made an armed assault on Charlie Lang, a Chinese at Rosebud Wednesday night, is now in the Drumheller hospital, while Lang is under the care of a doctor at Rockyford suffering from a gunshot wound in the fleshy part of the upper arm. He is now in the Drumheller hospital, having come here Thursday night.

It is charged that Black went into the City restaurant, run by Lang, about 6 o'clock, on Wednesday night. He hung around until 7 o'clock, when he had his supper and paid for it. He stayed in the place, and about 10:30 p.m. the Chinese went out of the dining room into the kitchen.

He heard the cash register ring and rushed into the dining room. Black at once fired a shot at him, it is alleged, which missed. He fired again and hit the Chinese in the arm.

Nothing daunted, the latter grappled with his assailant and wrenches the gun away from him.

Lang is then said to have used a knife and cut Black badly about the head. The alleged robber fled through a window and ran towards the C.N.R. track.

The A. P. detachment was notified at 10:45 p.m., and Inspector Harrison, instructed Corporal Purdy of Carbon to patrol towards Rockyford, and Constable Harrison of Wayne, to go towards Rosebud, while Constable Irvine watched the train at Wayne and the local detachment the trains at Drumheller.

Constable Harrison found the suspect in a box car at Rosebud with his head covered with blood and in a weak condition from loss of blood. The constable administered first aid and brought his prisoner to Drumheller on Thursday morning's train.

Black is an Austrian by birth and came lately from Alberville, near Prince Albert, Saskatchewan.

The Chinese had the bullet extracted at Rockyford.—Drumheller Review.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Carbon, Alta.,
April 6, 1927.

Editor, Carbon Chronicle.

Dear Sir:

Through the medium of your valuable paper it would be wise to ask the Councillors of our Village to give us a concrete statement of what they propose to do in levying a business tax on all transacting business in our Village. Indirectly it has been given out what the details are, but it should be specific so that we can all understand.

Yours truly,

ENJOYABLE TIME AT MASONIC AT HOME

Over one hundred of the people of Carbon and district gathered in the Masonic hall last Friday evening as guests of the Carbon Lodge, A.F. & A.M., at their Annual At Home. The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion with blue and white streamers, while artistic shades in the same colors and bearing the masonic emblem, covered the many lights.

The music for the evening was furnished by Shaw's orchestra, of Calgary, while Mr. Geo. Boothman also of Calgary, rendered numerous vocal solos during the evening.

At midnight a very dainty and refreshing luncheon was served, after which Mrs. Torrance favored the guests with a vocal solo.

BRITISH IMMIGRANTS WANT TO BE PLACED ON FARMS

Mr. Letcher Field Supervisor Land Settlement Branch at Drumheller will have some 65 men direct from the Old Country who will be fully experienced in all branches of Farm Work arriving this coming month.

Any farmer desiring Help by the year or by the season at modest wages is invited to get in touch with J. Letcher at Box 618 Drumheller, or by Telephone 324, advising his requirements.

Mr. Letcher will see that any man so placed is of the type who is willing to do a reasonable days work. A good home with a good farmer to these newcomers, where he can improve his experience is more essential than high wages.

The men are carefully selected as to ability, experience, health and sobriety before leaving the Old Country and are well recommended.

FIRE DESTROYS DEPOT AND ELEVATOR

Grainger was visited by the worst fire in its history last Saturday evening, April 2nd, which caused the total destruction of the Grainger C. N. R. depot and the Alberta Pacific elevator, in which was stored about 6000 bushels of wheat and 800 bushels of seed oats.

The fire is said to have started in the roof of the depot, and Mr. MacMillan, the local agent, managed to save everything downstairs, but all his bedding and clothes and what furniture was upstairs was a total loss.

The town was almost deserted at the time, and Mr. Cochlin, the Alberta Pacific wheat buyer, had just received word that his father, 80 years of age and living in Calgary, had been run down and badly injured by an automobile in Calgary. Mr. Cochlin left on the five o'clock train for Calgary. Mr. O'Connor, the postmaster and general store keeper had also closed up and gone to Calgary for the week end.

More than one hundred people gathered when they saw the blaze, but they were too late to render much assistance.

Mr. MacMillan is now temporarily located in a caboose for a station.

British vs. Foreign Born

The subject of immigration to Canada is, it is gratifying to note, engaging the attention of the people of the Dominion to an ever increasing extent. A very real interest is being aroused, and this interest is not confined to Canada, but is much in evidence in the British Isles. This growing interest is occasioned, not only because of a realization of the fact that one of Canada's national requirements is a larger population, but because it is becoming increasingly clear that in the present and succeeding years, Canada will be the mecca of the surplus population of older and more congested lands.

Much of the discussion around this subject is as to the effect of this larger influx of population upon the future character, ideals and national view point of the Canadian people. Fears are expressed in some quarters that non-English speaking peoples will swamp the native Canadians and the British-born, with a resultant gradual weakening of the ties binding Canada to the Empire, and the possible introduction of customs and ideals not wholly acceptable to those of British descent. It has been argued that Canada should restrict immigration to men and women of British descent.

While it will be generally admitted that greater encouragement should be given to British immigration than to immigration of other races, it is a pity and a grave mistake that people strongly urging this view should indulge in misstatements in their references to the present composition of Canada's population, and more particularly the racial classifications of the people of the Western prairie provinces.

Speaking before the Canadian Club of Vancouver recently, Mayor Webb of Winnipeg is credited with making the statement that fifty-five per cent. of the people of the prairie provinces were non-British. It would be interesting to have Mr. Webb submit some proof in support of such a statement, because the official census figures do not support him.

At a meeting of the Women's British Immigration League held in Saskatoon a few weeks ago, the even more astounding statement was made that "after a careful study of statistics" it was established that Saskatchewan's population was 75 per cent. foreign born and only 25 per cent. British, and a Saskatoon paper headed its report of this League meeting with a two-column display declaring "Province's Population is 75 per cent. of Foreign Extraction."

In view of the circulation of such misinformation from what might well be accepted as authoritative sources, it is well that the actual facts should be given wide publicity.

According to the census of 1921 the population of the three prairie provinces was 1,956,082, and was officially classified as follows:

Born In Canada	Born in other British Possessions	Born in U.S.A.	Born elsewhere
Manitoba	387,746	113,114	21,644
Saskatchewan	457,823	100,375	87,617
Alberta	315,090	99,392	99,879
Total	1,160,669	312,861	209,110
			273,412

In other words, out of a total population of 1,956,082, no less than 1,473,536 were British-born, either in Canada or in Great Britain and other British countries. That is, a little better than 75 per cent. were British-born as compared with less than 25 per cent. non-British, a contrast to Mayor Webb's figures of 55 per cent. non-British and only 45 per cent. British.

The figures used at Saskatoon relative to Saskatchewan should just be reversed—75 per cent. born under the British flag and only 25 per cent. under all other flags being the correct classification.

It is a well known fact that thousands of our people classified as born in the United States are the children of Canadians who emigrated to the western middle states in the eighteen, while other thousands are of British descent.

Canada is British and British to stay. The Anglo-Saxon has demonstrated his ability to assimilate other people as no other race has done, and here in the West we know that most of our non-British people have a high regard for democratic British institutions, a real appreciation of British liberty, and a deep respect for British law. They are glad to have their children educated in regard to these things, and in a generation or two it is well nigh impossible to distinguish them from those of British descent, except for the surnames they bear.

British people themselves are the result of an intermingling of races, and in the melting pot of Canada there is every reason to believe that the Canadian people of the future will be one of the most sturdiest, most moral and intelligent races in the world.

Strange Performance Staged in Moscow

Remarkable Parade Was Grim Reminder of Czarist Days

Moscow witnessed one of the strangest theatrical performances in history recently. Dressed in striped prison garb and shackled with chains and handcuffs and with shaved heads, 300 actors paraded the streets of the capital guarded by Cossack prison wardens carrying knouts and swords. The purpose of this grim procession was to show the present proletarian public how political offenders were punished in Czarist days and signified the tenth anniversary of liberation from imperial jails of profession al revolutionists.

Each "convict" wore on his back a large ace of diamonds which in pre-revolutionary days was accepted as a symbol of degradation and opprobrium. The entire company proceeded to the Meyerhold theatre where they gave a drama based on prison life under the emperors.

MAKE CARE OF BABIES EASIER

Stomach disturbances and constipation are responsible for much of the peevishness of babies and young children. When the baby is cross or irritable the mother should not resort to so-called soothing mixtures to correct the trouble, for in the majority of cases these mixtures simply drag the child into an unnatural sleep. What is needed is a gentle laxative that will sweeten the stomach and regulate the bowels. Such a remedy is found in Baby's Own Tablets. They are easy to take and guaranteed to be entirely free from opiates and narcotics. Concerning them, Mrs. Jos. Tousignant, Ste. Sophie, Que., writes:—"I would like all mothers to know that I feel there is no other medicine to equal Baby's Own Tablets. I always keep a box in the house and their prompt use never fails to restore my little ones to health." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Rural Mail is Heavier

More Use Being Made of Postal Reduction Than Was Anticipated

When penny postage was inaugurated through the budget of last year it was estimated by the minister that the loss in revenue from the decrease in the former three cent rate would be approximately five million dollars.

It is stated that, while there has been little increase in the volume of business letters, the return to penny postage has quite appreciably stimulated letter mail in the rural districts, and that as a result the decrease in revenue will be, not five millions, as estimated, but about two and a half millions.

The department will show a considerable deficit for the current year, but not nearly so great a deficit as expected.

Princes Fond of Jazz

Though jazz is not popular with the senior members of the royal family, the Juniors greatly enjoy it. The Prince is a skilled and enthusiastic trap-drummer, and Prince George is a virtuoso on the same very modern instrument. Prince Henry, however, has more classical tastes and eschews the negroid melodies of opera and symphonies.

"Worth its weight in gold" Says Ottawa Matron

Mme. Beatrice Charlebois could not hold pen to write. Nerves completely shattered, health ruined. Now alert, vigorous and strong, she gives praise to Tanlac

The two-year ordeal which she passed through before Tanlac came to her permanent relief, was recently described by Mme. Beatrice Charlebois, of 22 Rose St., Ottawa.

"What I endured in that time could not be told," she said. "I was so weak I could hardly walk. My appetite was poor and my stomach gave no end of trouble. Gas and pains would bring on fainting spells.

"My nerves were so completely shattered that I jumped in fright every time the doorbell rang. My hand trembled so that it could not hold the pen to write my name. Night after night I've gone without sleep, too nervous to lie still for even a few moments. Even my housework became too much for me."

"I tried all kinds of remedies in those two years, but can honestly say Tanlac gave me my first real relief. It built me up so that I've gained 11 lbs., eat and sleep fine and have nerves as calm and steady as ever. Tanlac is worth its weight in gold."

Her Kidneys Were In Pretty Bad Shape

Manitoba Lady Tells of Benefits Received From Dodd's Kidney Pills

Mrs. J. D. Beattie, in a Few Words Gives Reason Why Dodd's Kidney Pills Are So Popular.

Minnetta, Man. (Special)—"My kidneys were very bad and I felt as though I did not want to do anything but sit around. I thought I would try Dodd's Kidney Pills, which I did, and they helped me very much. After taking two boxes I began to feel well again, and now my kidneys are fine."

What Mrs. Beattie states is all that has ever been claimed for Dodd's Kidney Pills—that they are good for sick kidneys. The road to good health lies through the kidneys. If they are kept strong and well, all the impurities are strained out of the blood. If they are weak and out of order the impurities stay in the blood and disease is the sure result.

Dodd's Kidney Pills keep the kidneys in good condition to do their work of cleaning and purifying the blood.

Weak, nervous, run-down women should give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial at once.

Program of Construction Work In Saskatchewan Proposed By The Canadian National Railway

The programme of construction work on the Canadian National Railways in Saskatchewan to be completed by August, 1930, and now having the consideration of Parliament, comprises the following lines:

Weyburn to Radville, 22.7 miles:—Two objects, the railway management states, would be attained by the construction of this line; first, relief would be given to the farmers along its route in respect to their wagon haul to market; and second, the communities Radville, Bengough, and Willowbunch would be brought into more direct rail communication with the distributing centre of Weyburn, their rail distance to Weyburn being reduced by 123 miles. The route to Moose Jaw would be 14

Shellbrook (or near Parkside), Westerly, 37 miles:—For a considerable time the people living in the district to be traversed by the proposed line have been in need of railway facilities. There already is good settlement and development, there being a high proportion of excellent agricultural land for grain growing and mixed farming. This branch which, in the opinion of the Railway, would be justified by the cutting down of the wagon haul of the settlers and the opening up of more land, eventually would be extended to tie in with the Turtleford-Hafford line.

Turtleford, S.E., Mile 67, to between Hafford and Richard, 35.6 miles:—The reason for proposing this line, the Railway management states, is miles shorter and to Regina, 28 miles shorter. The line would run through a well settled grain-growing district and one in which mixed farming is increasing. The road haul at present reaches 15 miles in the centre of the area and the farmers are looking forward to the development of dairying if their road haul is reduced.

Willowbrook-North-Westerly, 22 miles:—This is a development and colonization branch in the mid-eastern part of the province. The purpose of the line is to give better railway communication to the district north-west of Willowbrook, lying between the Yorkton branch of the C.P.R. and the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific. Eventually it is planned to extend this line through the unserved area between the existing railways. With the exception of the Beaver Hills forest reserve, the area is well populated and good crops are generally obtained. It is felt that the shortening of the road haul to the farmers will offer encouragement for further settlement and development.

Sturgis to near Peesane, 100 miles:—This line in the north eastern part of the province would open up a large area of good agricultural land and give railway transportation to the Soldiers' Settlements south of Peesane. It would provide a shorter and better through route for traffic from the Melfort and Prince Albert districts to Winnipeg and the head of the lakes. There is ample precipitation for crop raising and mixed farming in the area. The proposed new mileage would also form part of the link between Hudson Bay Junction and the lines of the Canadian National in Southern Saskatchewan.

Peesane, Northerly, 19 miles:—The purpose of this line is to open up and give rail communication to an important section of the Carrot River country. The territory on both sides of the Carrot River, as far east as Range 9, has a very good character of soil and is now being cleared off. This is one of the best grain growing districts in the West, having ample rainfall each year. There is considerable settlement and this will be greatly encouraged by better railway facilities.

and will allow of a better handling of motive power and improved engine terminal arrangement.

Spruce Lake (Near) — Westerly, 29.5 miles:—This proposed line to run westerly from Spruce Lake is a colonization and development branch which is intended later to link up with the line running easterly from Elk Point, Alberta. Considering the topographical difficulties this branch will, as far as is possible, meet the requirements for railway relief to the districts of Paradise Hill, Tangleflaga and Fort Pitt. In the districts named there are good settlements with considerable development and this development will be very much increased when the transportation, which at present is difficult, is improved.

Hudson Bay Junction Southerly to meet proposed Sturgis-Peesane Line, 32 miles:—This branch is proposed to link the Hudson Bay Railway with the south lines of the National System. The branch is included in the three year programme at the instance of the Department of Railways for the proper operation of railway traffic for the Hudson Bay route, on the assumption that such traffic will be offering before the period of three years has elapsed, the construction of the line being conditional upon the completion of the Hudson Bay Railway and of the ocean terminal to a point where through traffic could be handled.

For traffic to and from points on the Canadian National Railways south of Canora. With this link Hudson Bay Junction to Sturgis built, the route distance to the Hudson Bay would be shorter by 120 miles than by existing lines. It is calculated that 160 trains (of 50 cars each) routed by this cut-off, exclusive of local traffic would justify the annual cost.

Is Canadian Better Farmer?

Washington Paper Refers to Their Successful Competition With American Agriculturist

"Is the Canadian a better farmer than his fellow agriculturists on the United States side of the boundary?" The Washington Post asks this question in regard to the passage through Congress of the Farm Relief Bill which the President has vetoed.

The newspaper finds it "difficult to understand how the Canadian wheat farmer can compete with his American cousin in the wheat market on this side of the line against the duty of 30 cents per bushel." Yet the Canadian farmer does compete in this market, the Post says, and quotes official records of imports of wheat for milling, re-export and domestic use.

"It can not be claimed," the Post goes on, "that the Canadian farmer has any advantages over the agriculturist in the United States. The climate of the Canadian wheat region differs very little, if at all, from the climate of the American wheat region, especially the spring wheat region. Yet the Canadian grower has not asked his government to finance his operations."

Will Serve India First

India will be the first destination of the empire airship service and the two new superdreadnaughts of the air are to be put in commission for the far eastern route. The Canadian flight is not expected to materialize now for some considerable time, eighteen months at least.

Possession of an umbrella is regarded by the natives of French West Africa as a mark of distinction. Hence the native workman saves his money to purchase one or more umbrellas.

The first stage of an investigation into a theory that the Americans have been drifting westward has been completed. Canada and 29 other countries participated in the scientific effort to prove the theory first held by Wegener, an Australian glaciologist.

Briefly, the theory is that in the progress of the ages the Americas have been gradually drifting westward. It is claimed that existence of a coast range of mountains extending throughout the whole length of these continents is simply the effect of buckling or crushing at the forward edge due to this drift. The present rate of the drift is estimated at one metre a year.

Through an international arrangement 50 stations distributed in 20 countries were united in a longitude net by astronomical observations coupled with radio time signals. The relative longitude of these stations having been determined, it will be possible by a repetition of the observations at some future date definitely to settle the question of continental drift.

Canada took part in the investigation by occupying two stations, one at Ottawa and the other at Vancouver. At each station two telescopes were constantly in use as well as auxiliary equipment of clocks, chronometers and wireless instruments. At Ottawa astronomical observations were obtained on 33 nights, and at Vancouver on 25. At each place wireless time signals from five different sending stations were received and measured at all hours of the day and night, the total number of distinct signals amounting to over 1,300. Observations to determine the relative personal equations of the four observers engaged were made at the Dominion Observatory, Ottawa, both before and after the main series of observations.

Other investigations have established many favorable points in connection with the theory of drift. It has been determined that the substratum underlying the surface crust of the earth is not absolutely rigid but is susceptible, under the action of long-continued stresses, to gradual deformation. Thus continents may be considered as floating on a substratum which, when considered over long periods of time, acts like a semi-viscous fluid. It has also been proved that at one time there was a much closer association between the forms of plant and animal life on the Americas and Europe and Africa.

Improved Table Corn

Three Varieties of Sweet Corn Suitable for Western Cultivation

Three varieties of sweet corn, Pickaniny, Banting and Early Malcolm, produced by the Horticultural Division of the Experimental Farms, give great promise, particularly for the cooler parts of the country. Pickaniny is rather dwarf in habit, bearing its ears close to the ground. When ready for use the kernels are white with a slight purplish tinge, broad, moderately deep, quite tender and extremely sweet. As the corn matures the kernels change to a purplish black, in which condition they are still tender and sweet. Banting, also dwarf in habit, was produced from a cross between Pickaniny and Howe's Alberta Flint. Its habit of growth is much like Pickaniny. The kernels when ready for cooking have an attractive golden-yellow colour, broad, moderately deep, quite sweet and tender. Early Malcolm grows to a height of about five and a half feet, bears medium to large ears usually bearing twelve rows of kernels, which are very sweet. This is proving a very desirable table corn. The report of the Dominion Horticulturalist for 1925 shows illustrations of the cobs of these varieties in full size.

Wild Ducks for Lord Byng's Estate

Lord Byng of Vimy will soon have his estate, Thorpe Hall, Essex, England, stocked with wild ducks from the Canadian prairies. Having expressed a desire to stock his estate, he graciously accepted a gift of twenty live wild ducks from the Provincial Government of Manitoba. The Canadian Pacific Express Company handled the shipment through Montreal recently and delivered the ducks at St. John where they sailed on Canadian Pacific liner "Montreal" for England. The above photograph shows the ducks in their crate at the Express yards. The ducks seemed to regard their strange surroundings calmly but they did not take very kindly to human interference. They ignored any friendly overtures even when accompanied by food. They were caught when quite young in the sloughs of Manitoba and have been kept for some time in the city park at Winnipeg.

Soviet Purchases in Canada

Louis Kon, trade delegate for the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, Saturday confirmed the report that an order for $1,000,000 worth of bimini twine had been placed by Russian interests with a Brantford firm. Mr. Kon stated that large purchases of other goods were being made in the Dominion.

CONSIDER PLANS FOR CELEBRATION OF JUBILEE DAY

Ottawa.—At the first meeting of the National Committee for commemoration, held here, formal organization was carried out, officers were elected and numerous suggestions were received as to the form the celebration should take.

A suggestion that His Majesty the King should open the celebration by touching a signal in London, immediately after which the new carillon in the tower of the Parliament Buildings would ring out, and be broadcast, to let all Canada know of the nation's 60th birthday, was considered and practically approved.

During the discussion, M. J. Coldwell, president of the Canadian Teachers' Federation, said that great attention should be paid to the share of children and young people in the jubilee celebration. He said that the organization he represented was not greatly in favor of spending a large amount of money on parades and fireworks.

George Edwards, president of the Canadian Council of Agriculture, said he believed he expressed the views of organized agriculture when he urged upon the committee that the celebration should not be predominantly military. There should be pageants where the achievements of the pioneers should be portrayed.

The draft of the organization of the corporation, consisting of the committee, approved by act of Parliament, was agreed to. A vote of thanks was expressed to Lord Willingdon and Lady Willingdon.

In replying, Lord Willingdon stated that he was proud to be a citizen of Canada at the present juncture and that he, and Lady Willingdon, would join in the work to make the commemoration most successful.

Unemployment Insurance

Labor Member for North Winnipeg Introduces Resolution

Ottawa.—A resolution declaring that the committee on industrial and international relations should be instructed to investigate and report on the establishment of a system of insurance against unemployment, sickness and invalidity was discussed in the House of Commons.

A. A. Heaps, Winnipeg North, Labor, the mover of the resolution, said in opening that he did not expect the committee would be able to report on the matter this session or perhaps for two or three sessions. It was a big undertaking requiring extensive investigation.

A royal commission, Mr. Heaps said, had been appointed in Great Britain to investigate unemployment insurance and had reported recently that this form of insurance was now a permanent feature in the social life of Great Britain. The act had not been enacted in Great Britain according to the commission.

Mr. Heaps stated the tariff board afforded industry in Canada an opportunity to ask for increased protection.

The human element in industry, however, was not given any protection.

Planning British Hollywood

Great Interest Being Taken in New Concern Capitalized at $5,000,000

London.—Plans for founding a British Hollywood already have been started by British motion picture producers, elated over the prospective passage of the bill now before parliament to foster British motion picture production.

"British Incorporated Pictures Limited," is being formed to promote the British Hollywood. The new concern, which is capitalized at £1,000,000, plans to promote British pictures on an empire wide basis. It is stated noted artists, authors, and actors are actively interested, including John Galsworthy, Arnold Bennett, Frank Brangwyn and Sybil Thorndike.

Extensive modern studios are to be built near London and directors are to be borrowed from American organizations on a reciprocal basis. Five year options on the film rights of stories by fourteen well-known authors have been secured, it is announced. These include Arnold Bennett, John Galsworthy, Sir Hall Caine, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, Eden Phillpotts, Sir Philip Gibbs and Rafael Sabatini. Affiliated companies will operate throughout the empire.

Asks Five Millions To Leave Shanghai

Defender of City Willing to Come to Terms With Nationalists

London.—With the Nationalist forces in China keeping up their intensive struggle to surround and isolate the important Nanking position from Shanghai, comes a report from Shanghai that General Chang Tsung-Chang, the Shantungese defender of that city, has offered for a large money consideration to evacuate the terrain he holds and thus save the region from becoming a zone of actual hostilities.

Chang desires about $5,000,000 for retiring into the province of Kiangsu, says a despatch to the Westminster Gazette. If the amount is not forthcoming, it is asserted he intends, if necessary, to retreat upon Shanghai itself, thus bringing the prize city of the Orient into the struggle for mastery between the northerners and southerners. According to the correspondent Chinese merchants in Shanghai are said to be unable or unwilling to raise the huge sum demanded.

Anxious To Prevent Wars

League Interested in Keeping Peace Among Non-Member Countries

Geneva.—The League of Nations is interested in preventing the outbreak of any war, regardless of whether the nations concerned are members of the League. This was made clear in a report adopted by the League council committee engaged in interpreting the league covenant as an instrument for preventing war. No nations are named in the report but it indicates that any dispute, even though it involves the United States, Mexico, Turkey or any other non member, becomes a matter of concern to the council. That body should study the advisability of bringing into play all preventive measures including aerial and naval demonstrations against the state which adopts a hostile attitude.

Explorer Leaves for China

Roy Andrews Will Probe Secrets of Gobi Desert

Seattle, Wash.—Roy Chapman Andrews, noted explorer has sailed from here en route to China again to ferret out the secrets of the Gobi desert, which he believes was the "cradle" of mankind. The unsentimental conditions in China make the date of his departure from his headquarters in Peking problematical, but the expedition will be prepared to push its way over the age old caravan trail to the desert as soon as the situation warrants.

On his last trip into the region, Andrews found dinosaur eggs estimated to be millions of years old.

Steel Now Within Eighty Miles of Port Nelson

Winnipeg.—Laying of steel for the Hudson Bay Railway is now across the Limestone River and within 80 miles of Port Nelson, is the report brought here by Constable E. P. Warren of The Pas division of the provincial police force. He reported that work was progressing very favorably under ideal weather conditions.

Constable Warren has just returned from a long patrol into Manitoba's hinterland, seeking evidence as to the alleged poisoning of game by trap ers. During the trek, Constable Warren ran short of food and subsisted for several days on dog biscuits and tea. He also reported that he was compelled to destroy four of his huskies owing to lack of rations.

Infantryman and Rifle Are Most Important

Nothing Has Been Invented to Replace Them in Warfare

Ottawa.—Among all the instruments of warfare which have been invented during and since the last war there is nothing to take the place of the Infantryman and his rifle, was the keynote of the report of the council presented at the annual meeting of the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association here. A feature of the council's report was the recommendation of the treasurer that careful consideration be given the suggestion that the size of the team representing Canada at Bisley be reduced from two officers and 18 shooting members to two officers and 15 shooting members. The suggestion was made in view of the increased cost of ocean transportation.

Gold Seekers Stake Claims in Blizzard

Another Rush Started to New Area in Nevada

Tonopah, Nevada.—The land of gold at Weepah held ever increasing numbers in its spell, as novices and desert rats alike, heard the news of the latest discovery at Barrel Springs, five miles to the south. Two hundred men and women struggled through a whirling mountain storm from Goldfield to Barrel Springs, and stakes out claims in the new area.

The rainbow chasers plunged out through the night while the gale arose to such strength that it blew the storm doors and plate glass windows out of the Goldfield hotel.

The temperature was 13 degrees below zero, with a forty mile an hour wind whistling across the wastes of sage and sand.

The rush to the new district began before daylight and long after dark the last stragglers began to reach shelter here. Miners at the gold zone, a lead mine 15 miles from Weepah, threw down their tools and joined in the dash.

The latest discovery is reached from the head of a precipitous canyon, where a geologist found ore assaying $75 to the sack, at a depth of 20 feet, in an old shaft.

THE OUTLOOK FOR IMMIGRATION IS VERY FAVORABLE

Ottawa.—Immigration prospects in the present year are considered particularly favorable in view of the extensive activities of the Department in connection with which Hon. Robert Forke is going to Europe at the conclusion of the session. Every arriving ship is full of intending settlers.

The Department has just renewed the agreement with the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways whereby representatives of the companies are to continue, on the continent, the selection of a hand-picked class of immigrants to engage in work as farmers, farm helpers and domestics. The Department is to accept the certificate of the railway representatives as to the occupational fitness of the immigrants for the particular work to which they will be directed, while the companies also guarantee to locate the new comers in positions.

For the purposes of the agreement, which is to be a three-years continuance of the existing arrangement, expiring next September, Europe will be divided into three areas, the principal one being the British Isles, France, Belgium, Germany, and the Scandinavian countries. People coming from those countries will not require the certificate of occupational fitness but more rigorous condition will be applied to the others.

When the minister of immigration is in Great Britain he will take up with the British authorities the question of extending the application of the plan of assisted immigration under the soldier's settlement plan. This is largely a problem of securing the necessary land and, in that connection substantial tracts are being offered at very low rates by the railways and the Hudson Bay Company. The whole immigration outlook is considered to be most favorable.

Workers Risked Lives Rescuing Entombed Man

Was Trapped Thirteen Hours When Side Caved In

Piney Springs, N.C.—Entombed for thirteen hours in a 70 foot well Jeff Ashworth who had been pinned by caving in walls forty feet down in the well was extricated after a group of rescue workers dug away the debris all night by the light of automobile headlights, farm lanterns and candles.

Ashworth was placed in the hands of physicians when he was rescued. He said that he rested easily for the last five hours of his entombment.

When he rescuing party pulled Ashworth out he was exhausted but no outward physical injury was indicated.

As soon as Ashworth's plight became known a crowd of volunteers assembled and began removing the rock caving off the well. In shifts of three men each the rescuers were lowered into the hole and as fast as they could fill buckets the debris was drawn to the top.

Police Hunt for Poison

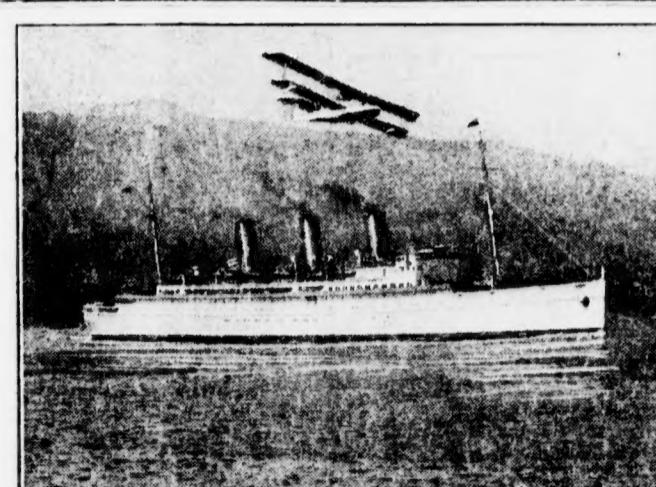

Boxes Lost Off Hospital Van Picked Up By Children in London Slums

London.—Squads of police worked feverishly all one night trying to recover 264 tubes of powerful poison which fell off a hospital van in London's east side. The tubes were picked up by small children who used them for playthings.

All night the police trailed the missing tubes from one child to another and by noon had recovered 200. The tubes were packed in bright orange colored boxes which made them very desirable toys in the eyes of the poor children of the section.

Inserted Without Authority

London.—Advertisements appearing in newspapers in Scotland stating that the Canadian Government guaranteed employment to emigrants throughout the year were inserted without approval of the Canadian authorities. Hon. L. C. M. Avery, Dominions Secretary stated in the House of Commons that steps were being taken to amend the situation.

Thousands Welcome White Empress

Over 10,000 people lined the coast at Vancouver to welcome the Canadian Pacific Empress of Canada, flagship of the Pacific fleet, when she steamed into her home port from the Orient recently, glistening in her new garb of white paint. She was escorted by several Canadian Government steamships.

The decision of the Canadian Pacific to make their entire Pacific fleet white, has met with approval in the shipping world and also by passengers with whom these giant trans-Pacific liners are popular. They will be known as the "White Empresses of the Pacific" and make a beautiful picture steaming through the blue waters of the Pacific.

Spring has come; bright, breezy, muddy spring. In thunder tones it was duly ushered in and now the melodious song of the meadow lark, the warble of the robin and the chirp of the blue bird can be heard early and late. The husband with the broomhandle can be seen pounding the dusty carpet and swearing at his hard luck and the arch enemy, the stove pipe, still wears its familiar ironical smile. Oh, Spring, Oh chestnuts.

Too poor to take the home paper? Well that is a distressful condition. Buy a hen, feed her crumbs and waste from the kitchen and she will lay eggs to pay for the year's subscription; then work her up into a pot pie and she will pay her first cost; so the paper will be clear profit. Repeat this process year after year, meanwhile learn wisdom and cease to be poor.

APPLE SAUCE

"What turns green first in the spring?" asked the botany professor.

"Christmas jewellery," said the absent minded student as she gazed at the wrist watch on her thumb.

First mosquito: Hooray, here comes a new arrival.

Second mos.: Good, let's stick him for the drinks.

A kick is something originated on the stage, imitated in football and perfected in Canada.

Considering the present styles, almost any husband ought to believe his wife when she says she has not a decent dress to her name.

"How is your affair with Henry coming on?"

"Oh, it's just write."

Wifey—Did you dream of Canibals last night?

Hubby—Of course not, why do you ask?

Wifey—You talked in your sleep and I heard you say, "That's my auntie in the pot."

When asking for a hand out, be sure you don't get a foot out instead.

We call our baby infinity.
How come?
He's the limit.

I'm awfully sorry, sir, but your wife fell into the sausage grinder. What—and now I suppose the sausage is ruined?

Hen: How do you like my pound cake, dearie?
Peck: Er-er-er, doesn't it weigh more than a pound?

Women may be a puzzle, but men are not willing to give them up.

The election of J. H. R. Fairbairn of Montreal, chief engineer of the Canadian Pacific Railway, as president of the Engineering Alumni of the University of Toronto, was announced at a dinner-smoker of the alumni held in Hart House recently. More than 150 graduates acclaimed the new president with the enthusiastic spirit characteristic of a gathering of "School" men. The chief speakers of the evening were Sir Robert Falconer, President of the University, and Mr. Fairbairn.

The rapid strides made by Prince Edward Island's seed potato business, aggregating 800,000 bushels for the past season, mostly shipped south, formed a subject of discussion at the 51st annual convention of the New Brunswick Farmers' and Dairymen's Association here. It was pointed out that this business has rapidly developed; that ten years back not a single seed potato was sold outside of the province. The remarkable advance in this business was due, it was claimed, to the production of a disease-free potato.

Immigration to Canada in the ten months of the fiscal year ending January 31st, amounted to 118,199, compared with 76,439 for the same period of 1925-6. This is an increase of 55 per cent. January immigration amounted to 4,164, compared with 2,324 for the preceding January, a gain of 79 per cent. Of this immigration 899 were British, 905 from the United States and 2,360 from other countries. During January 2,297 Canadians who had gone to the United States with the intention of remaining permanently returned to Canada making a total of 50,898 so returned for the ten months of the fiscal year.

The Hon. William D. Eulier, Minister of Customs and Excise, announces that the present period of 30 days of free entry into Canada of United States motor tourists on a permit will be extended to 90 days, to conform with the privilege now granted by the United States authorities, who admit Canadian cars carrying motor tourists free into that country for 90 days. The only difference will be that the Canadian permit will not initially be for 90 days, but for a first and second 30-day extension, if and when the tourists can show bona fides and recommendation from reputable associations of automobilists in the United States. A larger tourist movement in Canada is expected to result from the change.

Miss Gussie Frutchzweig, Bronx, N. Y., writes: "For months I tried in vain to clear my face of horrible pimples. Once I overheard my dearest friend refer to me as 'pimple-face' and everyone laughed. Well, my picture tells its own story, doesn't it?"

CHAPTER XXXI

The Challenge

Two cars crept upwards along the tortuous road that climbed the mountain. Kenilworth's red roadster, with its master at the wheel and Joanna settled snugly beside him in the single seat, glided silently from the streets of Monte Carlo, into the shrub-lined avenue that narrowed gradually until it became barely more than a path sloping sharply toward and villa which, on moonlight nights, make this road up La Turbie one of the beautiful drives of Europe.

"One who climbs the hill tonight, Master, must have a steady nerve and a purpose," said the Monegasque who guided the car in which Brandon rode. "If the purpose is worthy of the nerve, the effort is worth while," Brandon returned. "One man's object is a woman, another's may be gold. I imagine your nerve would not fail you in either case."

Almost at the same minute a disc of pale yellow light shone through the mist. "What was that?" Joanna asked.

the summit of the hill. Ahead of them Brandon, muffled in tweeds covered by a black domino, sat beside an evil, heavy-jowled Monegasque who steered a much larger car than Kenilworth's. The purple mist, lined vaguely now that the twilight had gone, blotted out the lights of town

When Antoine had made a turn with a sureness and a knowledge of the bank which stamped him as familiar with the road he followed, he observed:

"There are few women in your world, Master, for whom I'd take myself or my men into danger. Your women are playthings. That's why we don't let our's imitate them."

The lumps of Kenilworth's roadster suddenly revealed another picking its way slowly just ahead. Almost at the same moment a disc of pale yellow light shone through the mist to be immediately wiped away by the gray mass of cloud-like atmosphere.

"What was that?" Joanna asked.

"The lighthouse at La Turbie village," he replied. "Queer necessity, isn't it? A lighthouse to warn travellers on a mountain road?"

While the dim radiance cast its sickly illumination over them Kenilworth examined the girl who sat so close beside him. He saw that her white throat, on which a single great red ruby hung, was glistening in the dampness against the contrast of her hair and the black of the gown she had chosen to wear. She had thrown back her head. Her wrap, of some plain clinging stuff, softened at the collar with a ripple of chinchilla, lay open. Kenilworth felt for the bank with his front wheels and brought the roadster to a stop.

"It's a treacherous atmosphere," he admonished her. "One can never forget it." He studied her a moment, peering at her through the fog. He saw the vague shadows lurking in her eyes, shadows that came and then evaporated as if they were reflections of the mist that had reached a haven of brown depths.

"Are you wondering," he asked, "what is to be the outcome of—well, of your invitation to a battle between us tonight? If you are, it is useless. There will be one thing or another; joyful, glorious, restful, beautiful; or, so far as I am concerned, empty and, in that event, meaningless to you."

She was silent, motionless, for a time. Then: "How are we going about it, Roddy? You are to tell me that you love me, want me, and recite all those rituals of adoration for which you are distinguished. That much of course, I am to measure you and measure myself. That will be the obvious program. But there must be some new note. What shall it be?"

He guided the car back into the road, satisfied that the bigger, that had been ahead of them would have gone a safe distance beyond. "You are, in yourself, the one overwhelming new note," he declared then. "You and the whim of you to throw your colors at my feet and challenge me to listen to them to my shield—if I can. I've never experienced that before, from a woman. They've done it, of course, but they thought they were furtive about it."

"I don't believe in being furtive," she returned. "It used to be the fashion, and the custom, I know. But what's the use? Any woman always knows what another woman thinks. And every man knows what his brother wants. They pretty well know what they think about each other—every woman and every man. So much has gone wrong in the world, it seems to me, because people have always tried to make a mystery and a game out of the plain and commonplace. It's more fun to be honest. If a girl builds a wall round herself she always leaves an opening that she can peek through. That's the breach through which a man conquers her, if she's weak. So why have the wall? I think it's better to stand out in the open—better for the girl, I mean. She can see what's coming at her, then, and be ready for it."

"So you have decided to put your arms down and tell me I may have whatever I can win? Just why, if it's not asking an advantage, have you chosen me?"

As was her way, at times, she considered this quietly. He waited, apparently intent upon keeping his car safely away from the ledge at the outer side of the road. At last she answered him:

"It's because you're straight, Roddy. Straight, according to your standards. You've never fooled me, nor concealed your desire of me since that night at Yvonne's back in New York, when I asked you to wipe John's accusing kiss from my lips with a warmer one from yours. I knew enough then, thanks to what I'd learned of men, to realize by the feel of your arms that you would be determined to hang me up, if you could, with your other trichies—as you would any woman who'd make herself interesting to you. And you've never tried to deceive me. You've even amused me, tremendously. Now I'm wondering if, after all, I haven't been deceiving myself."

She paused, but Kenilworth did not speak. He thought she would go on, and presently she did.

"John has done a big thing. When his opportunity came to him he went up like we are going now, through the mist, straight toward the end of a beautiful rainbow. He tells me I've been just a fizzle—and I suppose he's right. His pride and his triumph doesn't fit in with his loving me because, he says, I've wasted my time gilding the clouds with tinsel. Betty Weymouth is convinced I'm not worthy of Teddy Dornminster who's not like you, Roddy, because he wants to marry me. And I suppose I'm not worthy of whoever it was who gave me my money, for he has never revealed himself. So it may be that I'm worth only the kind of thing you've been wanting to give me—the sort of thing you gave Yvonne."

"When I was Twenty-seven of the silks I was what I thought it was smart to be—bold enough to let everybody know I was a girl, that I enjoyed being a girl, unashamed to take everything I dared accept out of unfettered girlhood. Perhaps short skirts and scarlet lips and too much knowledge of things as they really are does spoil a girl inside as much as some people say they do outside. Go ahead, Roddy, and find out—for me I'll fight you like the devil, but I want to know if you and what you represent can win; if you do, John wins; Betty Weymouth wins; everybody wins!"

When she finished she put her hand against Kenilworth's coat. He felt it slipping into his coat pocket and resting there. When he would have spoken he realized that a long time had passed; that he had been holding himself still, trying to absorb the feel of the hand that snuggled in his pocket and determine whether it rested quietly, or trembled.

Little Helps For This Week

God shall supply all your need.—
Phil. IV. 19.

I look to Thee in every need,
And never look in vain;
I feel Thy touch, Eternal Love,
And all is well again;
The thought of Thee is mightier far
Than sin and pain and sorrow are.

Discouraged in the work of life,
Disheartened by its load,
Shamed by its failures or its fears,
I sink beside the road;
But let me only think of Thee
And then new heart springs up in me.

—Samuel Longfellow.
